WORKMAN CUT IN TWO

He Jumped on the Wrong Side
When a Car Went Over

IN THE TRINWAY UPPER YARDS

Newcomerstown Boy Severely Injured About the Back—The Work Train Was Wrecked.

TRINWAY, Aug. 26 (Special).—One man dead, one seriously injured and half a dozen suffering from minor injuries make the most deplorable results of a wreck in the Trinway yards this morning. The dead man was cut in two.

The work crew, largely made up of men from Newcomerstown and vicinity, was at work in the upper yards east of the station unloading gravel when it became necessary to move the train to another track. It was about 8:45 o'clock when the signal was given, and the train started to move. The speed was not great, and when the switch leading to the other track was reached the engine passed over it in safety. Not so with the cars. Some went on one track and others refused to pass the defective switch point and the wreck followed.

A number of cars were thrown from the rails, and the men jumped. All but two escaped with injuries that will soon be healed. Charles Eckfeld, of Port Washington, jumped on the wrong side of the track and was caught under a car as it went over. He was thrown in such manner as to lose his life instantly, the body being cut in two. The water boy was thrown from the car with such violence as to seriously injure his back. He was spitting blood when taken from the wreck and it is feared he cannot recover. The other men are bruised.

Doctor E. C. Carr was summoned from Coshocton and rendered assistance. Other doctors were there.

The main tracks were not blocked and traffic was not interrupted. The wreck train arrived from Denison this afternoon to clear up the wreck.

LOST BOTH FEET.

William Arbogast Suffered an Awful Accident at Newark.

Six weeks ago William Arbogast, of Pleasant Valley, began work on the Pan Handle as brakeman. Today he lies in Newark with his feet cut off at the ankles.

Arbogast was attempting to board a freight as it pulled out of the yards when he missed his footing and fell under the wheels in such manner as to cut off his feet. He was given every attention and physicians soon moved him to a house near by. His father, Daniel Arbogast, was notified, and went at once to Newark. The accident happened Sunday night.

Arbogast was an active young fellow and was well known in the city. His friends are unable to learn whether his condition is considered dangerous. The message received from his father simply stated the facts as they are given above. He is unmarried. Pan Handle Officer Doney, at his earnest solicitation, recommended him for a place on the road.

A special to THE AGE from Newark late this afternoon says that Arbogast's feet were amputated this morning and he will probably live.

UNION STATION AT TRINWAY.

Contract Has Been Let For a Convenient Structure.

When Coshocton people look at the Pennsylvania passenger station and then think of the handsome new station to be built at Trinway they are compelled to think that the ways of the world are queer.

Adams Brothers, of Zanesville, have been given the contract for the building which will cost $10,000. Pressed and enameled brick will be used and when completed the building will resemble the new station at Lancaster.

It has been decided to locate the structure a quarter of a mile west of the present structure. It will be used jointly by the Pan Handle, Cleveland, Akron & Columbus, and the Cincinnati & Muskingum Valley. Trinway was promised a station two years ago but the statement was made that the money appropriated for that purpose was used in building the station at Chester, W. Va.

ONLY FOURTEEN YEARS OLD

And the Law Will Not Allow Miss Dunfee To Be Married at Present.

"License not issued" was found written across the marriage record in probate court this morning, and thereby hangs a tale.

William Haskins, of Lafayette township, came in Saturday and asked for a license for himself and Miss Edith Bell Dunfee, of the same township. All went well until the age of the lady was asked. The young man could not tell and the father was called in. It was found Miss Dunfee was but a little more than 14 years old. Her father was willing to have the license issued but the law would not permit it and the lovers must wait two years.

TWO BIG PICNICS.

Isleta and Dresden Events Attract a Great Many People.

Two great picnics were held within a short distance of Coshocton last Saturday. The attendance at each is estimated at 5,000. The weather was all that could be asked, and the events were most enjoyable.

The annual picnic of the Coshocton County Grange was held in Wagoner's grove near Isleta. The attendance in the morning was not large, but great crowds of people came in the afternoon, making the event one of the most successful in the history of the organization. The program was carried out.

When James Hinds, deputy master of the Patrons of Industry for Coshocton, called the meeting to order in the afternoon he looked out on what is estimated at three acres of people. They were well dressed, happy throng and came for the sole purpose of thoroughly enjoying what is becoming a recognized institution throughout the county. They had eaten the picnic dinner, made up of the best the land affords, and were ready for the intellectual feast.

Doctor Lower, of Bakersville, was the first speaker and made an excellent address. He was followed by Hon. F. A. Gerbrich, of Mantua, Portage county. The gentleman is master of the Ohio State Grange and holds a prominent position among the farmers of Ohio. He is thoroughly acquainted with the details of a farmer's life and those advanced ideas that are doing so much for the farmers of Ohio. These he injected into his address in a most pleasing manner, and he was heard with the closest attention.

Mr. Garer, of Strasburg, was the next speaker, and he was followed by Librarian Joseph Love, who for 12 years was deputy master for this county. Mr. Love spoke in his usual pleasant manner and was loudly applauded. The program in the morning was in the hands of the young people.

Music was provided by the Moscow band and the members of Pine Ridge grange under whose immediate direction the picnic was held. The songs of the grange were sung with spirit.

THE DRESDEN PICNIC.

Many Coshocton County People Were There to Enjoy the Day.

A great many people, almost 5,000 is the estimate, gathered in Cassingham's grove near Dresden last Saturday, the occasion being the annual picnic. They came from Muskingum and Coshocton counties, and among the crowd were people from Coshocton, Zanesville and Newark. They all enjoyed the day, meeting old friends and visiting until the hour for the rendition of the program arrived.

Captain E. Z. Hays, of Warsaw, was the first speaker, and made a good address. He was followed by Professor Smock, of the Dresden schools, who is popular in that section and an entertaining talker. Hon. J. E. Wing, of Champaign county, was the next. The gentleman is well known as a writer on agricultural subjects, and is numbered among the most enterprising farmers of the state. He spoke of progress that had been made in agriculture since Ohio was claimed from the wilderness and the possibilities for the future.

C. L. Reamer, of Keene, was another speaker who was well received. The gentleman made an excellent address. Mr. Brelsford, the Republican candidate for auditor in Muskingum county, sang two songs very well, and Miss Brill, a talented elocutionist from New Concord, rendered a number of selections.

The picnic was successful in every way and the large attendance shows the increasing interest in these pleasant events.

WALTER MURPHY LOST

He Walked Away From the House
Last Friday Afternoon.

NO CLUE TO HIS WHEREABOUTS

Avondale Young Man Has Created a Sensation by Quietly Dropping Out in Curious Circumstances.

AVONDALE, Aug. 26, (Special).—Avondale and vicinity is excited over the disappearance of Walter Murphy. He walked away from his home last Friday afternoon at 3 o'clock.

Murphy has frequently made the statement to friends that he would some day "come up missing," and they wondered what he meant, but he had no word of explanation. He seemed to be content with his surroundings at home and made no complaint. He was sound of mind and cheerful disposition, and no reason can be assigned for his disappearance.

At the home of his father, Milton Murphy, one mile east of Avondale. It was raining and he was dressed in his working clothes with the exception that he wore no shoes. Without a word of goodbye to anyone he left the house and walked away.

When he did not return for supper his family became anxious, and their anxiety was increased when he did not appear Saturday morning. Inquiry was made among the neighbors and a thorough search was made in the surrounding country and in Avondale. No trace of him could be found. No one would say they had seen him after he walked unconcernedly away from his father's house. Sunday brought no word of the missing one and the anxious family had met with no success to noon Monday. No one can imagine why he went.

Mrs. Murphy, the young man's mother, is almost wild with anxiety and has become ill. She, like the other members of the family, can assign no reason for her son's disappearance.

Murphy had but little money with him when he left, possibly a few dollars, and if he traveled any considerable distance he would be compelled to walk. That he went without shoes and in his old clothes, leaving his belongings behind him, are facts that cause grave fears.

This afternoon Mr. Murphy called at The Age office and said his son had been found. He made no other explanation.

Rev. Dr. Fisher conducted communion services at the Walnut M. P. church Sunday morning. A large proportion of the membership was present. The gentleman delivered a scholarly sermon.

NO WORSE THAN OTHER TOWNS

Says a Cambridge Newspaper Speaking of Coshocton.

The Cambridge Jeffersonian in touching on some things that have recently stirred Coshocton has this to say: "Our thriving and beautiful neighboring city, Coshocton, has its own troubles and exposures. Many citizens are giving much time and attention to prominent scandals that have convulsed the community. It is highly probable that Coshocton is no worse, perhaps not so bad as other places, but unfortunate in having her scandals aired in public, in other words found out."

BROKE A WINDOW.

One Result of a Practice the Police Are Breaking Up.

A window in Wright's jewelry store was broken Saturday night, because some one sat on the narrow frame and leaned against the glass. The name of the offender is not known. The practice of leaning against show windows is most annoying and the police and Merchants' Officer Johnson are endeavoring to break it up. They compel persons lounging against windows to move on and when a window is broken they endeavor to find the offender in order to have him pay for it.

A Hollow Victory.

London, Aug. 26.—Although the French papers hail Turkey's yielding as a great triumph for France—more especially as it was largely believed that the sultan's obduracy was due to the supposed friendship between Germany and Turkey—it is felt in London, despite considerable satisfaction over the outcome, that there is a grave doubt as to whether France has achieved more than a paper victory. The British theory is that M. Constant really wished to force Turkey to purchase quays which are notoriously unremunerative. The sultan has avoided this, thus securing the practical results while leaving to M. Constant the empty congratulations.

Died Suddenly.

Minneapolis, Aug. 26.—Robert G. Evans, 47, United States district attorney for Minnesota, died suddenly of heart disease at his home in Kenwood. Mr. Evans went to the room of his daughter to awaken her. He grasped the footrail of the bed and shook it, seemingly unable to speak. Just as the daughter awoke Mr. Evans staggered from the room, made his way to the balcony over the front porch and sank to the floor dead. Mr. Evans was a prominent candidate before the legislature last winter to succeed the late C. K. Davis in the United States senate, but was defeated by M. E. Clapp of St. Paul. Mrs. Evans died four months ago.

New York, Aug. 26.—General Robert Williams, 75, died at the Hotel Netherwood, near Plainfield, N. J., of apoplexy. In 1892 he was appointed to the position of adjutant general of the army and retired a year later. He married the widow of the late Stephen A. Douglas. He leaves three sons and three daughters.

NEGRO INCINERATED.

Mob Chained Him to a Tree and Kept Slow Fire Burning.

CONFESSED HIS HORRIFYING CRIME.

Murdered the Wife of His Employer, Captured After an Exciting Hunt and Thousands Witnessed His Cremation—Met Death With Extraordinary Bravado.

Winchester, Tenn., Aug. 26.—Speedy and terrible punishment was inflicted by an immense mob on Henry Noles, who criminally assaulted and murdered the wife of Charles Williams last Friday.

Williams is one of the prominent farmers of Franklin county and the report of the calamity which befell his home quickly spread and was promptly responded to by his neighbors. The posse formed pursued Noles, who was captured near Cowan, Tenn. He was brought to Winchester by his captors and placed in the county jail. Sheriff Stewart made haste to try to barricade the jail and protect the prisoner. Soon an angry mob of several hundred men gathered, but Assistant Attorney General Matt N. Whitaker appeared and made a speech to the crowd. He appealed to the men to assist him in allaying excitement and upholding the majesty of the law. He promised to reconvene the grand jury to promptly indict the negro and have him speedily tried at the present term of court, assuring the crowd that his conviction and legal execution was a foregone conclusion. This appeal was supplemented by Judge J. J. Lynch, Captain W. P. Tolley, Jesse M. Littleton, Foster Ramsey and others. No sooner had their appeals been made than several hundred citizens from the neighborhood where the crime was committed came up and augmented the crowd to thousands. They swept forward upon the jail, overpowered the sheriff and his deputies, took the prisoner and started for the scene of the crime, 12 miles distant. The mob was orderly but determined. It seemed that the whole population for miles around had turned out to see the fate of the wretch. A procession three miles in length followed the mob to the Williams home. Arriving at a point in sight of the scene of the crime the negro was placed upon a stump and given a chance to make a statement. He mounted the stump stoically and laughed as he began his statement. He said: "Tell all my sisters and brothers to meet me in glory. I am going to make that my home. Tell my mother to meet me where parting will be no more."

When asked why he killed Mrs. Williams Noles replied, "I just done that because I had nothing else to do." Noles was then asked as to whether any one else was implicated in the crime. He stated emphatically there was no one implicated but himself. When he finished his statement he was taken from the stump, carried to a tree near by, bound to the tree by chains and his body saturated with oil. At 1:40 p. m. a match was applied and instantly the quivering body was enveloped in flames. Fence rails were pitched about the burning body and soon life was extinct. The negro made no outcry at any time and died as stoically as a saint. There were no disorderly scenes about the burning body. At least 6,000 people witnessed the horrible fate of the negro. Many remained several hours feeding the blaze until the body was entirely consumed. They then departed for their homes quietly.

Lying on the floor of the family room, her face splashed with clotted blood and the oaken planks stained with similar clots, Charles Williams found his wife Friday afternoon when he returned from marketing his wheat in the little town of Maxwell. A heavy bullet had gone through her head, the bullet grazing the child's head. The negro fled to the woods. Sheriff Stewart departed for the scene with bloodhounds. A posse of determined citizens, well armed and provided with a rope, was also on the trail of Noles and captured him. The dead woman was a member of one of the oldest and most respected families of the county. The two children were the only witnesses of the tragedy.

Negroes Raided by Bungalos. Indianapolis, Aug. 26.—Another riot broke out in a crowd of 5,000 people at Fairview park. The trouble was caused by white boys from the west side known as the Bungalos. Members of this gang to the number of 150 congregated at the park and began a determined effort to drive all negroes out. A dozen of them attacked a negro with his wife. He was knocked down several times. With a club he fought back, injuring two of the gang, but he was compelled to run toward the pavilion, where park officers came to his rescue. The fight was continued to the car and after the negro and his wife were on the car stones were thrown, injuring his wife. A negro named Harris was attacked in another part of the park about the same time and his right arm was broken before he was rescued. Two other negroes, one with his wife, were badly beaten. Twelve police were sent from the city to quell the riot, and their arrival stopped the trouble. Four members of the gang were arrested, the others scattering in the woods.

NEEDED AT MANILLA.

More Soldiers Will Make the People Feel Safer.

CAN NOT TRUST MALAY POPULATION.

Thought Best to Provide Against Probability of Uprising at Manila by Increasing Military Guard—General Chaffee Thinks City is Pacific and No Danger Threatened.

Manilla, Aug. 26.—Although it has been found expedient to reinforce the military guard in this city, General Chaffee says he considers the city of Manila to be perfectly orderly and he can see no prospect of an uprising. Commissioner Wright thinks the people "extremely peaceable." He is satisfied that, although among a certain class there is some discontent on account of the land tax, which is not yet understood, this class is not likely to foment trouble.

In Manila there are less than 1,000 effective soldiers, and it has been decided to increase this number by four companies of infantry. The official reason for the increase is that the guard duty is too heavy for the present force. There is a feeling that, although there is no apparent prospect of trouble, in the event of an uprising in the future, such as is always possible among the Malays, it would be better to have a sufficient body of troops available.

Many army officers say they are gratified at the increase in the military force. They think that, with the military guard withdrawn from the prison, another uprising there might result in the release of about 1,800 prisoners. This possibility is regarded as a menace to the city by those who take that view of the case, for they believe the white guard is insufficient.

Civil officials look upon this contingency as unlikely, inasmuch as the 600 white police could mobilize at the prison before any of the prisoners could escape and become dispersed throughout the disaffected district.

Thought Best to Provide Against Probability of Uprising at Manila by Increasing Military Guard—General Chaffee Thinks City is Pacific and No Danger Threatened.

Manilla, Aug. 26.—Although it has been found expedient to reinforce the military guard in this city, General Chaffee says he considers the city of Manila to be perfectly orderly and he can see no prospect of an uprising. Commissioner Wright thinks the people "extremely peaceable." He is satisfied that, although among a certain class there is some discontent on account of the land tax, which is not yet understood, this class is not likely to foment trouble.

In Manila there are less than 1,000 effective soldiers, and it has been decided to increase this number by four companies of infantry. The official reason for the increase is that the guard duty is too heavy for the present force. There is a feeling that, although there is no apparent prospect of trouble, in the event of an uprising in the future, such as is always possible among the Malays, it would be better to have a sufficient body of troops available.

Many army officers say they are gratified at the increase in the military force. They think that, with the military guard withdrawn from the prison, another uprising there might result in the release of about 1,800 prisoners. This possibility is regarded as a menace to the city by those who take that view of the case, for they believe the white guard is insufficient.

Civil officials look upon this contingency as unlikely, inasmuch as the 600 white police could mobilize at the prison before any of the prisoners could escape and become dispersed throughout the disaffected district.

Word was received that the Filipino Colonel Lorel, with 17 officers and 13 men, surrendered to Captain Brown of the Fourth Infantry at Talisay. The surrender of numerous other smaller contingents last week brings the total to more than 100.

Boers Are Active Again.

London, Aug. 26.—South African dispatches show that the Boers continue active in Cape Colony. Sharp skirmishing has occurred near Uniondale, only a day's ride from the sea, while Commandant Schepper's commando is threatening the important town of Oudstroom, 30 miles from the Indian ocean. In Brussels it is asserted that Commandant General Botha has ordered the Boer commanders in future to retain all captured British as hostages in case Lord Kitchener carries out the threats of his latest proclamation.

This Week at the Pan.

Buffalo, Aug. 26.—Officially this week at the Pan-American exposition is designated as Grange week. The 4,000,000 mark in attendance was passed Sunday and the average attendance for the month of August has been 50 per cent greater than any previous month. The average attendance for the past week exceeded that of the previous week by 11,000. Cuba day will be Thursday, and Senor Estrada Palma will be the principal orator of the occasion. Saturday the red fez will be in evidence, for that will be Shriners' day.

A MINISTER'S GOOD WORK.

"I had a severe attack of bilious colic, got a bottle of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy, took two doses and was entirely cured," says Rev. A. A. Power, of Emporia, Kan. "My neighbor across the street was sick for over a week, had two or three bottles of medicine from the doctor. He used them for three or four days without relief, then called in another doctor who treated him for some days and gave him no relief, so discharged him. I went over to see him the next morning. He said his bowels were in a terrible fix, that they had been running off so long that it was almost bloody flux. I asked him if he had tried Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy and he said 'No.' I went home and brought him my bottle and gave him one dose; told him to take another dose in fifteen or twenty minutes if he did not find relief, but he took no more and was entirely cured. I think it the best medicine I have ever tried." For sale by C. E. Anderson, No. 2 Forbes Block.

THE CHARM OF LIFE

Is Lost When the Burden Is Too Heavy.

Life is hardly worth the living with the never-ceasing aches and pains of a bad back. If you would remove the burden of backache, reach the cause—the kidneys. Doan's Kidney Pills will cure sick kidneys, and the cure is lasting. Here is proof of it.

Mr. Geo. Hosier, of 518 So. Walnut St., engineer at the Troy Buggy Works, Troy, O., says: "In a statement given by me for publication in 1896, I said I was a pronounced sufferer from kidney complaint for several years, that I took cold very easily, and it always settled in my kidneys and aggravated the complaint; that I procured Doan's Kidney Pills at a drug store, and that they greatly benefited me. It is now over three years since I made that public statement, and although I am unable to say that Doan's Kidney Pills radically cured me, I emphatically declare that no remedy which has ever come to my notice gives me such relief from attacks, and no remedy I ever heard of acts up to the representation made for it like Doan's Kidney Pills act up to theirs."

Doan's Kidney Pills are for sale by all dealers, price 50 cents. Mailed by Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, N. Y., sole agents for the U. S. Remember the name—Doan's—and take no substitute.

Talmage Sermon

WASHINGTON, Aug. 25.—A Bible incident not often noticed is here used by Dr. Talmage to set forth practical and beautiful truth; text, 1st Corinthians xi, 22, "Through a window in a basket was I let down by the wall."

Sermons on Paul in jail, Paul on Mars hill, Paul in the shipwreck, Paul before the sanhedrin, Paul before Felix, are plentiful, but in my text we have Paul in a basket.

Damascus is a city of white and glistening architecture, sometimes called "the eye of the east," sometimes called "a pearl surrounded by emeralds," at one time distinguished for swords of the best material, called Damascus blades, and upholstery of richest fabric called damask. A horseman of the name of Saul, riding toward this city, had been thrown from a flash from the sky, which at the same time was so bright it blinded the rider for many days and, I think, so permanently injured his eyesight that the flesh he afterward speaks of. He started for Damascus to buy saddles, but after that hard fall from his horse he was a changed man and preached Christ in Damascus till the city was shaken to its foundation.

The major gives authority for his arrest, and the popular cry is: "Kill him! Kill him!" The city is surrounded by a high wall and the gates are watched by the police lest the Cilician preacher escape. Many of the houses are built on the wall, and their balconies projected clear over and hovered above the gardens outside. It was customary to lower baskets out of these balconies and pull up fruits and flowers from the gardens. To this day visitors at the monastery of Mount Sinai are lifted and let down in baskets. Detectives prowled around from house to house looking for Paul, but his friends hid him in one place, now in another. He is no coward, as 50 incidents in his life demonstrate, but he feels his work is not done yet and so he evades assassination. "Is that preacher here?" the foaming mob shout at one house door. "Is that fanatic here?" the police shout at another house door. Sometimes on the street incognito he passes through a cloud of clinked fists and sometimes he secretes himself on the house top.

Paul's Providential Escape.

At last the infuriate populace get on sure track of him. They have positive evidence that he is in the house of one of the Christians, the balcony of whose home reaches over the wall. "Here he is! Here he is!" The vociferous and blasphemous and howling of the pursuers are at the front door. They break in. "Fetch out that scoundrel and let us hang his head on the city gate. Where is he?" The emergency was terrible. Providentially there was a good stout basket in the house. Paul's friends fasten a rope to the basket. Paul steps into it. The basket is lifted to the edge of the balcony on the wall, and then while Paul holds the rope with both hands his friends lower away, carefully and cautiously, slowly but surely, farther down and farther down, until the basket strikes the earth and the apostle steps out and afoot and alone starts on that famous missionary tour the story of which has astonished earth and heaven. Appropriate entry in Paul's diary of travels: "Through a window in a basket was I let down by the wall."

I observe first on what a slender tenure great results hang. The rope-maker who twisted that cord fastened to that lowering basket never knew how much would depend upon the strength of it. How it had been broken and the apostle's life had been dashed out? What would have become of the Christian church? All that magnificent missionary work in Pamphylia, Cappadocia, Galatia, Macedonia would never have been accomplished. All his writings that make up so indispensable and ennobling a part of the New Testament would never have been written. The story of resurrection would never have been so gloriously told as he told it. That example of heroic and triumphant endurance at Philippi, in the Mediterranean Euroleiden, under flagellation, and at his beheading, would not have kindled the courage of 10,000 martyrs. But that rope holding that basket, how much depended on it. So again and again great results have hung on slender circumstances.

Did ever ship of many thousands tons crossing the sea in such an important passenger as had once a boat of leaves, from taffrail to stern only three or four feet, the vessel made waterproof by a reed of bitumen and floating on the Nile with the infant larvae of the Jews on board? What if some crocodile should crunch it? What if some of the cattle wading in for a drink should sink it? Vessels of war sometimes carry 40 guns looking through the portholes ready to open battle, but the tiny craft on the Nile seems to be armed with all the guns of thunder that bombarded Sinai at the lawgiving. On how fragile craft sailed how much of historical importance!

John Wesley Was Saved.

The parsonage at Epworth, England, is on fire in the night, and the father rushed through the hallway for the rescue of his children. Seven children are out and safe on the ground, but one remains in the consuming building. That one awakes and finding his bed on fire and the building crumbling, comes to the window, and two peasants make a ladder of their bodies, one peasant standing on the shoulder of the other, and down the human ladder the boy descends—John Wesley. If you would know how much depended on that ladder of peasants, ask the millions of Methodists on both sides of the sea. Ask their mission stations all around the world. Ask their hundreds of thousands already ascended to join their founder, who would have perished but for the living stairs of peasants' shoulders.

An English ship stopped at Piscoira island, and right in the midst of surrounding cannibals and savages the passengers discovered a Christian colony of churches and schools and beautiful homes and highest style of religion and civilization. For 50 years no missionary and no Christian influence had landed there.

Why this oasis of light amid a desert of heathendom? Sixty years before, a ship had met disaster, and one of the sailors, unable to save anything else, went to his trunk and took out a Bible which his mother had placed there and swam ashore, the Bible held in his teeth. The book was read on all sides until the rough and vicious population were evangelized and a church was started and an enlightened community established, and the world's history has no more brilliant page than this which tells of the transformation of a nation by one book. It did not seem of much importance whether the sailor continued to hold the book in his teeth or let it fall in the breakers, but upon what small circumstance depended what mighty results!

Practical inference: There are no insignificances in life. The minutest thing is part of a magnitude. Infinity is made up of infinitesimals; great things are aggregation of small things. Bethlehem manger putting on a star in the eastern sky. One book in a drenched sailor's mouth the evangelization of a multitude. One boat of papyrus on the Nile freighted with events for all ages. The fate of Christendom in a basket let down from a window on the wall. What you do, do well. If you make a rope, make it strong and true, for you know not how much may depend on your workmanship. If you fashion a boat, let it be a proof, for you know not who may sail in it. If you put a Bible in the trunk of your boy as he goes from home, let it be remembered in your prayers, for it may have a mission as far-reaching as the book which the sailor carried in his teeth to the African beach. The plainest man's life is an island between two eternities—eternity past rippling against his shoulders, eternity to come touching his brow. The casual, the accidental, that which merely happened so, are parts of a great plan, and the rope that lets the fugitive apostle from the Damascus wall is the cable that holds to its mooring the ship of the church in the storm of the centuries.

The Humble Spinnaker.

Again, notice unrecognized and unrecalled service. Who spun that rope? Who tied it to the basket? Who steered the ill-fated preacher as he stepped into it? Who relaxed not a muscle of the arm or diminished not a hair of the ground and discharged its magnificent cargo? Not one of their names has come to us. But there was no work done that day in Damascus or in all the earth compared with the importance of their work. What if they had in their agitation tied a knot that could slip? What if the sound of the mob at the door had led them to say, "Paul must take care of himself, and we will take care of ourselves." No, no! They held the rope, and in doing so did more for the Christian church than any thousand of us will ever accomplish. But God knows and has made record of their undertaking. And they know.

They recall that they must have felt when they read his letters to the Romans, to the Corinthians, to the Galatians, to the Ephesians, to the Philippians, to the Colossians, to the Thessalonians, and when they heard how he walked out of prison, with the earthquake unlocking the door for him, and took command of the Alexandrian corn ship when the sailors were nearly scared to death and preached a sermon that nearly shook Felix off his judgment seat. I hear the men and women who helped him down through the window and over the wall talking in private over the matter and saying: "How glad I am that we effected that rescue! In coming times others may get the glory of Paul's work, but no one shall rob us of the satisfaction of knowing that we held the rope."

Once for 39 hours we expected every moment to get to the bottom of the ocean. The waves struck through the skylights and rushed down into the hold of the ship and hissed against the boilers. It was an awful time; but by the blessing of God and the faithfulness of the men in charge we came out of the cyclone and we arrived at home. Each one before leaving the ship thanked Captain Andrews. I do not think there was a man or woman that went off that ship without thanking Captain Andrews, and when years after I heard of his death I was impelled to write a letter of condolence to his family in Liverpool. Everybody recognized the goodness, the courage, the kindness of Captain Andrews; but it occurs to me now that we never thanked the engineer. He stood away down in the darkness amid the hissing furnaces doing his whole duty. Nobody thanked the engineer, but God recognized his heroism and his faithfulness and his fidelity, and there will be just as great reward for the engineer who worked out of sight as for the captain, who stood on the bridge of the ship in the midst of the howling tempest.

Early Struggles and Sacrifices.

There are said to be about a hundred and fifty thousand ministers of religion in this country. About $0,000, I warrant, came from early homes which had to struggle for the necessities of life. The sons of rich bankers and merchants generally leaving banks and merchants. The most of these who become ministers are the sons of those who had terrific struggle to get their everyday bread. The collegiate and theological education of that son took every luxury from the parental table for eight years. The other children were more scantily apparelled. The son at college every little while got a bundle from home. In it were the socks that mother had knit sitting up late at night, her sight not as good as once it was. And there also were some delicious apostrophe of a hungry student. The father grudge the heavy cradle of the mother, the sweet rolling from his chin belching every stop of the way, and then sinking down under the cherry tree at noon thinking to himself, "I am fearfully tired, but it will pay if I can once see that boy through college, and if I can know that he will be preaching the gospel after I am dead." The younger children want to know why they can't have this and that, as others do, and the mother says, "Be patient, my children, until your brother graduates, and then you shall have more luxuries, but we must see that boy through."

The years go by, and the son has been ordained and is preaching the glorious gospel, and a great revival comes, and sons by scores and hundreds accept the gospel from the lips of that young preacher, and father and mother, quite old now, are visiting the son at the village parsonage, and at the close of a Sabbath of mighty blessing father and mother retire to their room, the son lighting the way and asking them if he can do anything to make them more comfortable, saying if they want anything in the night just to knock on the sill, and then, all alone, father and mother talk over the gracious influences of the day and say: "Well, it was worth all we went through to educate that boy. It was a hard pull, but we held on till the work was done. The world may not know it, but, mother, we held the rope, didn't we?" And the voice, tremulous with joyful emotion, responds: "Yes, father, we held the rope. I feel my work is done. Now, Lord, lettest thou thy servant depart in peace, for mine eyes have seen thy salvation." "Pshaw!" says the father. "I never felt so much like living in my life as now. I want to see what that fellow is going to do, he has begun so well." Something occurs to me quite personal. I was the youngest of a large family of children. My parents were neither rich nor poor. Four of the sons wanted a collegiate education, and four obtained it, but not without great home struggle. I never heard the old people say once that they were denying themselves to effect this, but I remember now that my parents always looked tired. I don't think they ever got rested until they lay down in the Somerville cemetery. Mother would sit down in the evening and say, "Well, I don't know what makes me feel so tired." Father would fall immediately to sleep, seated by the evening stand, overcome with the day's fatigues. About 35 years ago the one and about 37 years ago the other put down the burdens of this life, but they still hold the rope.

Recognition of Blessings.

O men and women, you brag sometimes how you have fought your way in the world, but I think there have been helpful influences that you have never fully acknowledged. Has there not been some influence in your early or present home that the world cannot see? Does there not reach you from among the New England hills or from the western prairie or from southern plantation or from English or Scottish or Irish home a cord of influence that has kept you right when you would have gone astray and which, after you had made a crooked track, recalled you? The rope may be as long as 20 years or 500 miles long or 3,000 miles long, but hands that went out of mortal sight long ago still hold the rope. You want a very swift horse, and you need to rowl him with sharper spurs and to let the reins lie loose upon the neck and to give a shout to the racer if you are going to ride out of reach of your mother's prayers. Why, a ship crossing the Atlantic in six days can't sail away from that. A sailor finds them on the lookout as he takes his place and finds them on the lookout as he climbs the ratlines to disentangle a rope in the tempest and finds them swinging on the hammock when he turns in. Why? The most of us would long ago have been dashed to pieces had not gracious and loving hands steadily and lovingly and mightily held the rope.

But there must come a time when we shall find out who these Damascuses were who lowered Paul in the basket, and greet them and all those who have rendered to God and the world unrecognized and unrecalled services. That is going to be one of the glad excitements of heaven, the hunting up and picking out of those who did great good on earth and got no credit for it. Here the church has been going on 19 centuries, and yet the world has not recognized the services of the people in that Damascus hallway. Charles G. Finney said to a dying Christian, "Give me more to St. Paul when you meet him." When you and I meet him, as we will, I shall ask him to introduce me to those who got him out of the Damascus peril.

We go into long sermons to prove that we will be able to recognize people in heaven, when there is one reason we fail to present, and that is better than all—God will introduce us. We shall have them all pointed out. You would not be guilty of the impoliteness of having friends in your parlor not introduced, and celestial politeness will demand that we be made acquainted with all the heavenly household. What rehearsal of old times and recital of stirring reminiscences! If others fail to give introduction, God will take us through, and before our first 24 hours in heaven—if it were calculated by earthly timepieces—have passed we shall meet and talk with more heavenly celebrities than in our entire mortal career. I shall see earthly celebrities. Many who made great noise by the front door of the heavenly temple, while right up within arm's reach of the heavenly throne will be many who, though they could not reach themselves or do great exploits for God, nevertheless held the rope.

Patient, Uncomplaining Service.

Come, let us go right up and accost those on the circle of heavenly thrones. Surely they must have killed in battle a million men. Surely they must have been buried with all the cathedrals sounding a dirge and all the towers of all the cities tolling the national dirge. Who art thou, mighty one of heaven? "I lived by choice the unmarred daughter in a humble home that I might take care of my parents in their old age, and I endured without complaint all their querulousness and administered to all their wants for 20 years." Let us pass on round the circle of thrones. Who art thou, mighty one of heaven? "I was for 20 years a Christian slave and suffered all the while, occasionally writing a note of sympathy for those worse off than I, and was regarded as a confidant of all those who had trouble, and once in awhile I was strong enough to make a garment for that poor fellow in the back lane." Pass on to another throne. Who art thou, mighty one of heaven? "I was the mother who raised a whole family of children for God, and they are out in the world Christian merchants, Christian mechanics, Christian wives, and I have had full reward for all my toil." Let us pass on in the circle of thrones. "I had a Sabbath school class and they were always on my heart, and they all entered the kingdom of God, and I am waiting for their arrival." But who are these, the mighty one of heaven on this other throne? "In time of bitter persecution I owned a house in Damascus, a house on the wall. A man who preached Christ was hounded from street to street and hid here from the assassins, and when I found them no longer keep him safely I advised him to flee for his life, and a basket was let down over the wall with the maligned man in it, and I was one who helped hold the rope." And I said: "Is that all?" And he answered: "That is all." And while I was lost in amazement I heard a strong voice that sounded as though it might once have been hoarse from many exposures, and triumphant as though it might have belonged to one of the martyrs, and it said: "Not many mighty, not many noble are called, but God hath chosen the weak things of the world to confound the things which are mighty, and base things of the world and things which are despised hath God chosen, yea, and things which are not to bring to naught things which are,

that no flock should glory in his presence. And I looked to me from whom the voice came, and lo! it was the very one who had said, "Through a window in a basket was I let down by the wall."

Henceforth think of nothing as insignificant. A little thing may decide your all. A Cucumber put out from England for New York. It was well equipped, but in putting up a stove in the pilot box a nail was driven too near the cucumber. You know how that nail would affect the compass. The ship's officers, deceived by that distracted cucumber, put the ship 200 miles off her right course, and suddenly the man on

RED SEA SEASON OVER

No More Sunday Ball in That Part of the City.

OFFICER LEWIS STOPPED IT

It Has Been the Practice During the Summer and Big Crowds Saw the Contests.

The bottom land beyond the bluff in the upper part of the city, well known as the Red Sea, will be used no more for Sunday base ball. Officer Lewis stopped the last game Sunday afternoon.

The Red Sea has long been known as a ball ground, and many exciting contests have taken place on the diamond. They were open to the public and large audiences usually witnessed the Sunday afternoon games. The attendance at times was 300, and on one occasion the number is said to have reached 500. The games were boisterous and residents of that section complained that language not the choicest and most moral was frequently used.

When the game was in progress Sunday Officer Lewis appeared and ordered the players away with the statement that no more ball playing would be permitted. The order was not received with the best grace, but Chief Mapei says it will be enforced to the letter and the annoyance stopped.

HE IS A STRANGER

And Probably Not Acquainted With Our Brand of Exhilaration.

A stranger, who gave the name of Joseph Gillespie, was in police court this morning charged with intoxication. He was arrested Sunday by Chief Mapei. One dollar and costs were assessed and he was returned to the prison until arrangements for the payment of the fine could be made. He said he was employed by John Hall on the Seventh street improvement.

Boston Man Indicted.

Cleveland, Aug. 26.—The special grand jury called to investigate the crib disaster returned an indictment against W. G. Marshall of Boston, charging him of selling and disposing of bogus stock in a deal with W. B. White, son of ex-Congressman W. J. White. It is alleged that White was given bogus stock in a St. Louis lead company in exchange for a tally-ho, a $2,000 horse and four notes for $8,000.

He fell to the bottom, 50 feet, on Kline, both men being killed.

RAILWAY MISHAPS.

Interurban Car Had a Brush With a Freight Train.

Indianapolis, Aug. 26.—A freight train on the Belt railroad struck a Greenfield interurban car and 14 passengers were injured. The conductor signalled the motor-man to come ahead at the Belt crossing. A freight engine with a dozen cars was approaching and as the electric car reached the center of the track the freight cars struck it and threw it to the side of the track. The electric car was new and of heavy construction. It withstood the impact and did not crush, otherwise the consequences would have been terrible. The car was partially demolished. The motor-man and conductor were thrown to the ground and badly bruised. They were taken to their homes. There were 12 passengers on the car, nearly all of them Greenwood people coming here to take the Cincinnati excursion.

Limited Train Wrecked.

Columbia, S. C., Aug. 26.—The Florida and Metropolitan limited train of the Seaboard Air line was wrecked seven miles south of Cheraw by a sandbank washing out. Fireman Rosemond was crushed to death. Engineer Muse had a shoulder and leg injured and Tom Cleary, another engineer, was injured in the knees and legs. The passengers escaped with a severe shaking up. The engine and four front cars left the track and were turned completely over. The engine was a mass of debris. The tender was thrown 50 yards away. The track was torn up 150 yards and every car was off the track.

Met on a Curve.

Paducah, Ky., Aug. 26.—An Illinois Central accommodation train from Fulton, Ky., and a light engine collided on a curve three miles from this city. Engineer W. C. Eubanks of the light engine, who overlooked the passenger train, was fatally hurt, both legs being cut off. The others injured are Conductor E. T. Arnn, Flagman Murphy, Engineer Mike Kelly, Express Messenger Clarence Wright, Fireman William Hay and several passengers, none seriously. Both engines were demolished.

Lentz-Tompkins Contest.

Washington, Aug. 26.—In the contested election case of Hon. John J. Lentz vs. Emmett Tompkins, from the Twelfth congressional district of Ohio, the attorneys for Mr. Lentz filed the brief for contestant here today. The case is attracting national attention. On the face of the returns, Mr. Tompkins last fall was elected over Mr. Lentz by a plurality of 18 votes in a total of over 50,000 cast. Mr. Lentz alleges that his defeat was accomplished through the machinations of certain secret and customs service officials who resorted to bribery and intimidation. In the brief just filed it is claimed the charges of corruption made in Mr. Lentz's recent notice of contest were proven and uncontroverted.

Tackled the Wrong Man.

Macon, Ga., Aug. 26.—J. C. Merriweather, a baggage-master on the Georgia Southern and Florida railroad, shot and killed Will Freeman, a negro porter on the same train, near Valdosta. Bad feeling had existed between the two men for some time. They accidentally met on the "shoo-fly" train, and a few minutes after the train left for Valdosta the negro entered the baggage car, and uttering an oath, exclaimed: "I have got you where I want you, and I am going to throw you out of this car." The negro sprang on Merriweather, who is a small man. A tussle ensued and Freeman was shot through the head, dying instantly.

Message From the Sea.

Victoria, B. C., Aug. 26.—Harry Barnes, a prospector who has arrived at Cape Nome, tells of having found a ship's medicine bottle tightly corked on the sand spit on Hagenmaster island, in the northern part of Bristol bay, which contained a sheet of paper on which was the following message in faded ink: "July 24, 1879. The schooner Albert wrecked in Unimak pass. 18 hands aboard, storm still raging. C. McLeod, ship's master."

THE PEACE PROGRAM

New Proposals to Be Made to Trust Officials.

TERMS ARE KEPT A CLOSE SECRET.

Arbitration as a Mode of Settlement Waived on the Advice of Labor Leaders—Beginning of the Seventh Week of the Great Steel Strike Both Sides Determined.

Pittsburg, Aug. 26.—In furtherance of the peace program which is said to have been in the course of preparation for several days it was given out by one on the inside and one who should know, that the Amalgamated executives have consented to have certain propositions submitted to the officials of the United States Steel corporation through members of the conciliatory committee of the National Civic federation, which proposals are expected to bring about a settlement of the great strike. The proposition carries much of the terms under which President Shaffer and his advisers stand willing to settle. What these terms were and the mode of their presentation are carefully guarded secrets. The proposal contains nothing looking to arbitration. This mode of settlement was waived on the advice of the civic federation men.

Some radical changes at the strike-ridden mills of the United States Steel corporation are promised for the present week that will change the aspect of affairs considerably if carried out. It was stated on good authority that before the end of the week plants that have been operating on single turn would be run with full force and for the usual three full turns each day. Men enough have been secured for this purpose, officials say, in spite of the claims of the strikers that the companies could not get enough men to operate their plants, and the managers of the various mills say they will be ready with all the skilled men required to start up the machinery and turn out a heavy tonnage. Repairs are in progress at the Star mill, where the company proposes to place this week men enough to work the four double mills there full turns.

When the strikers were told of the claims of the officials of the Star mill they denied that there were as many skilled men at work as was claimed, and said those who were in the plant were sent there from the Monessen plant, which was being crippled in order to accomplish this work. Strenuous denials were also made regarding alleged desertions from the Amalgamated ranks to fill positions offered by the corporation, and it was said that it would be impossible to obtain men enough to operate the plant without settling the strike.

There was no change in the situation regarding the tube mills. The mills are quiet and former employees remained away from the plants. It is understood that officials of the National Tube company have practically determined not to start these plants for the present.

Pickets Ignore Injunction.

Chicago, Aug. 26.—Striking machinists at the Allis-Chalmers and the Gates iron works continued picketing the plants, despite the temporary injunction issued by Judge Kohlsaat. Pickets abounded at both plants, and it is reported that five imported machinists employed at the Gates works, who ventured outside the plant, were waylaid and severely beaten by friends of the strikers. Former Governor John P. Altgeld has been asked to fight the injunction on the part of the strikers, but it is said has refused to take charge of the case except in an advisory capacity.

Strike Breakers Headed Off.

Canal Dover, O., Aug. 26.—Another effort was made by the trust to bring nonunion men to this city to start the mills. A report reached the strikers that the men who had been turned back at Newcomerstown were again on their way here. A committee at once left for Madison, where they hoped to intercept and persuade them to stay away.

Templars Now in Full Possession of the Falls City.

Louisville, Aug. 26.—Knights Templars from all corners of the United States, including two representatives of the commandery at Honolulu, are pouring into Louisville for the triennial convocation, which will begin Tuesday morning with a grand parade. Appropriate religious services were held Sunday afternoon. At 1 o'clock the knights assembled at their various commanderies, and at 2 o'clock marched to the Galt House, where the general formation was made for the march to the Broadway Methodist church, where the services were held at 3 p. m. The body formed an escort for the grand master of the grand encampment, Reuben B. Lloyd, and the other grand officers. The form of service had been prepared by Sir Knight the Rt. Rev. Thomas C. Dudley, Episcopal bishop of Kentucky. Except a few changes it was the form of worship used by the grand commandery of Kentucky.

Monday is taken up with the reception and escorting to their quarters of arriving commanderies. From 8 p. m. to 12 midnight the grand commandery and the subordinate commanderies of Kentucky will hold a reception at Kentucky headquarters at the custom house in honor of the officers and members of the grand encampment and their wives. Hon. W. C. P. Breckinridge of Lexington, Ky., will deliver the welcome of Kentucky's Knights Templars at the opening meeting of the encampment Tuesday afternoon.
